HISTORY OF WASATCH COUNTY.

Who were the firstwhite people to come to our county?

2. When did they come?

30 Why did they come? . Find out as much as you can bout our county or valley when the first shite people came.

Talk to some pioneer.

Wasatch was the first past of Utah that white men came to. The Indians where here when the first shite cople came. They were savage and unfriendly. They lived on wild fruits and roots and animals. They roved about from one place to another.

The Spanish Explorers where the first white people to come to this valley. They came down the Duchesne river along Provoriver through this valley and down Provoriver to Utah Lake. They were looking for gold.

The Trappers came years later to hunt beaver and mink along the shores of the Timpanogas River.

They made trails for others to follow.

The Pioneers came third, and they were the first to stay and build homes.

PIONEER LIFE:

Who were the first settlers?

When did they come?

Why did they come?

Why do you think they were brave men and women? What were some of the hardships they had to encounter? (Write short stories about the last two.)

Among the first to come to this valley were:
Wallsburg: Willam Wall, George Bean.
Daniels: Aaron Daniels, Hyrum Oaks.
Midway: John Watkins, Isaac Baum, N. Murdock, James Carlila Robt. Broadhead, James Davis, Wm. Davidson, Charles Carroll, Thomas Tasband, John Carlile, Jesse Bond, Wm. Giles, John Giles, Geo. Carlile, Heber: John Les.

The pioneers came to this valley in the summer of 1859. They came from Provo Valley because they had heard that this valley was a beautiful place, and because the land was all taken up there.

The trappers told them that there was a pretty valley about thirty miles up the Provo river and they thought they would like to see it. One bright morning early in the summer time some people came up over the mountain to look down at this valley. They went back to Prove and told about it. The next summer some men came up and brought a herd of cattle and made ranches where Wallsburg was later settled. After a while more people came and settled what is now Heber.

HOMES:

The Old Fort. How made. What was in it? Houses. How they got the logs. Roofs, lighting. Other buildings.

THE OLD FORT:

When the settlers came to what is now Heber most of them settled close together so that they could protect themselves from the Indians. They made what we call the Old Fort. The houses were built in a large square about 2 blocks wide and 3 long. The cabins all faced the center of the fort. Inside the fort was a log school house that was also used for a church, and other meetings. There was a store. When there was danger the people from all over the valley came to the fort.

The settlement was named for Heber C. Kimpall. There were twenty families in Heber the first winter. All of them had houses to live in but three started on the north end of town and on the west side of main street and made block for & blocks south and five and a half west.

John Lee built the first house in Heber.

HOME LIFE: Washing, ironing, carrying water. Making soap. Making clothes. Getting wood for winter.

Their main work was farming and catttle raising. The first crop raised in 1859 was 10000 bu. of grain at Heber, Center, and Midway.

The crops planted were wheat, corn, oats, cabbage, and potatoes.

THE WAY THEY TRAVELED:

When the settlers first came they traveled with ox teams and covered wagong. A few had horses. There were no roads only trails that the Indians and trappers had made. It took a long time and it was very hard to come to this valley.

When they got here they decided to make a read back to Provo, through the canyon. They had a very hard time to make the road. Sometimes they had to plow to break the way, but before the winter was over the road was built. Many people traveled on the raad.

Everyone who passed over the road had to pay a toll. One dad to lar for any wagon or buggy drawn by two animals, fifty cents for any mule or horse, five cents for every goar or sheep and fifteen cents for loose animals. The toll gate was at Springdell.

THE INDIANS:

The Indians who were here when the white people came first were the Utes. At first they were hostile but when the people fed them they became more friendly. They stayed for several years after the pioneers came. There was one big Indiam War. The Black Hawk War. It started in another part of Utah and our ment made up a company and went.

(Social Life, Amusements, Church and School, (Stories about these.)

(A story of some incident in Pioneer Life. Have the children get these and write in books.)

HISTORY OF:

Roads and transportation.

The Pioneers traveled over trails when they first came. As the years went by they kept building up the roads until now we have nice smooth roads ofconcrete, oiled roads and graveled roads.

The pioneers traveled with wagons, ox-teams, handcarts and pack horses. Travel was very slow because of the bad reads. Later cars came and the roads had to be made better.

Now we travel in cars, twain and evern in airplanes.

Before there were these things everything was hauled in wagons or on pack horses. Now big trucks are used.

When the pioneer wanted to get word to someone at a distance, they used to send it by someone who was going or by messenger. Now, we have telephones, gelegraphs, and postal service.

The first settlers used candles for lights.

Water. Building was very different .----Schools.

INDUSTRIES:

What did the first settlers do for a living?

Why did they do these things? What do they do mostly now? 2.

Tell the difference in the way these industries were carried on then and now.

THE INDIANS.

The Indians were the first inhabitants of our country. The first white men to come to this country found them-so did the men who first went into any part of our country for the first time, just as they did in our valley.
We are interested in the Indiams because they were the first inhabitants of our country and in our state. They have been here longer than anyone.

When the first white people found them they lived in a way all thei own. Many of them still do. Others are taking up the ways of the white people, and are studying in the Government schools.

The Indians of the Great Basin belonged to the family of Sho-shones, which was divided into a number of tribes - the Bannocks, Utes, Pauites, Comanches.

The Utes and the Pauites made their homes pretty much in the valleys of Utah. The Utes were in the Uantah, Wasatch, Salt Lake, Sanpeter, Sevier, and Utah valleys. The Pauites were in the southern part of Utah.

iron points from traders or made their own points of flint or the horn of the elk.

They were searching for gold and siler. They wanted to convert the Indiams, find gold, and they loved adventure.

These people had won so much walth in Mexico and South America that they began to dream of rich countries to the north. Several tried but were unsaccessful.

These stories are of the adventurous heroes who came here to this country and seen to our state long before the final settlers came.

CORONADO.

The Spanish people were the first white people to come into our land. Even before the Pilgrims came to this country, the Spanish people who had discovered the land next to ours on the south, Mexico, crossed over into our country. They were searching for gold.
They wanted to convert the Indians, and they loved adventure.

Several tried to explore the region of the Great Basin but they were unsuccessful.

These stories are of the adventurous heroes who came to this part of our country and to Utah long before the pioneers did.

THE STORY OF WASHAKIE.

In the early days lived a chief, Washakie, who was friendly to the white people and who was a great warrior. He often led his warriors fin into Salt Lake. The people would give him food and hw would always assure them of his friendship. Many times he and his men helped the travelers crossing the plains. He was so friendly that at one time 9000 pioneers signed a paper thanking him for his kind treatment.

He hunted for the white people. He knew the trails of the mountains and the ways of the Indians.

One time he told why his people had lost the hunting grounds. He said to them: "The white men are our griends. Our father is angry. If we do not do better we will starve. If we follow the white m an's wisdom the Great Father will turn his face to us and we will be strong like the white man and know his ways.

Washakie died in Feb. 1900. A monument was built for him.

Men said that he was a great and good chief. Washakie always said that he and his men would always love the Mormon Pioneers.

UTAH.

Utah received its name from a tribe of Indiams who lived in these valleys and mountains long ago-the Eutaws. These people called this the land of Eutaw or "high-up". Utah means "In the tops of the mountains."

Utah is a land of sunshine. It is in the very heart of the west. The sunshine and the rain fill its valleys with beauty. The great peaks of the mountains that surround us rise clear against the blue sky.

There are some beautiful lakes, rivers, mountain peaks, valled scenic sights that cannot be excelled anywhere.

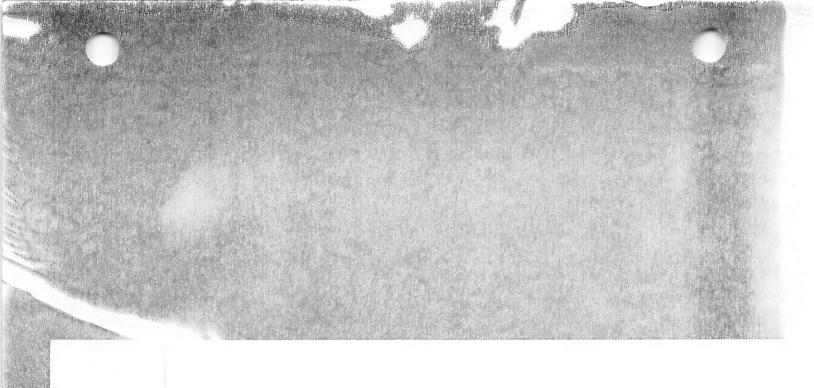

Those who live in Utah should be proud of its beauty.

INDIAN TRADITIONS AND FOLK LORE.

Our Indians have many beautiful traditions and much folklore:

Washakie, A Shoneshone chief thold this one: Many, many moons ago, when the antelope and buffalo roamed upon the palins and all the Indians had happy homes along the rivers and in the forests, the Great Spirit sent them much food and beautiful gold and trinkets. This, in time make them very proud, and they began to forget the Great Spirt as they four for one another's homes. Their battles were many. One day their Great Ancestor came from the islands of the Great Blue Sea(The Great Salt Lake) and told them that they should fight on longer. They should smoke the pipe of peace and desire only to know the Great Spirit. The Indians threw away their gold and sought happiness in thouggl The Great Spirit became very watchful and loving of his children. The earth soon brought forth in abundance, and the trees and flowers all remain to this day. And that is why the valleys of these big hills are so beautiful.

We revere the Gulls for what they did for the pioneers. The Ute Indians also like the Gulls. They say that they came from the home of the Great Spirit. Here is a legend which gives the origin of them:

Some people in a boat wanted to go around a point of land which went far out into the water. As the water was always very rough at this point at which there was a high cliff, some of the women wanted to walk over the neck of the point. This would help lighten the boat. One of the women got out with her children. They promised to wait for her on the other side. The people in the boat had gone so far that their voices became faint and the woman became frightened and thought they were going to desert her. She remained about the cliff always crying the last words head. At last she changed into a gull and now shouts only the sound, "Go-over-go-over-oover."

These Indians have a legend that the earth was once a happy hunting ground and that the Great Spirt dwelt among the Indians, leading them where the buffalo and antelope roamed the hills. But a dark day came and the Great Spirt went away and the Indians began to fight. But someday earth will be made new and snow will come and cleanse all things. They believe in this and sing:
The whirlwing-the whirlwind-the whirlwing-the whirlwind.

The snowy earth comes gliding, the snow earth comes gliding.

ESCALANTE IN UTAH.

There were only Spanish people seeking adventure, and sunscorched and wind tanned bands of Indians who hunted wild animals and made war upon one another, in this unknown land for more than two hundred years after Coronado's great adventure.

Then the priests began to think about going into the land to preach to the Indians. They also thoughthat they could fand a trail between Sante Fe and the California Missions.

In June 1776 Father Escalante and Father Dominguez with other men set out to find a trail. It was a very dangerous journey, but they were breave amen and they had faith in God. They went up to what is now Colorado, then into the eastern part of Utah, to the Unitah valley, and down the Duchesnes. They followied the foothills of the Wasatch mountains until they came to what is now Spanish Fork canyon. Here they first looked at Utah Lake. They camped about two miles north of the present city of Spanish Fork. The next day they went down to American Fork river.

Here for the first time in the history of the Great Basin civilized people from across the ocean met face to face with the children of nature who had never dreamed of the things the Spanish people told them.

They made friends with the Indians and preached to them. They stayed for one day. When they left the Indians sent guides with them. The went soutward. They endured many hardships

The came at last to the city of Quivira. Here were dirty little Indian villages. The people didn't know what he meant when Coronado asked then about gold and silver. They had never heard of any welath. Coronado was very sad, he could find nothing that his king would want and it was too far away from Mexico to make settlements. He was afraid that those at home would lose faith in him. Broken hearted he returned to his home, and died there, neglected.

Before Coronado went back to his home he send Cardenas and others of his men, about twelve, to explore the north and west, and to find the river that cut great chasms into the earth and where no man had crossed because if its enormous size. It was by these men that the Grand Camyon of the Colorado was discovered. These places that the Spanish explorers found were visited now by hundred of people.

Coronado thought that he had failed, but he did a very important work. Through his adventure the Spanish claimed the southwestern part of what is now the United States. His men were among the first to come up into our state, though it was only into the southern part.

Escalante:

We have come to bring you the light and show you how yo can obtain the salwation of your souls. Believe in the only true God; love and obey him. Priests will come to teach you and Spaniards will come to live with you.

Cheif: We want you to come again and we want your brothers to come. We will give your lands to them and want them to teach us more.

Doma!

You have been very good to us. We have slept and eaten in your homes and now we thank you for your kindness. We will have to go now as it is a long way to Monterey.

Escalante: Farewell to all. (The company bid the Indians farewell and depart.)

THE TRAPPERS AND TRADERS.

The eastern part of our country was settled a long while before the western part was. People had come from England and settled. Quite large cities were built and the p people lived much as they had done in the other country.

The people in these cities and even in Europe began using fur to make clothes, especially beaver for hats. began to be a demand, they needed more fur, more beaver.

In search for fur brave advendurous men, Americans and Englishmen, kept going farther west. They had heard about the fur bearing animals, so they followed the trails into the canyons of the Rocky Mountains. Some made new trails and came into the Unitah and Wasatch mountains. They floated their canoes on the waters that flow into the Co.orado river, and built a fort on the Green River. This was the first white man's settlement in Utah.

Some of the trappers who knew the valleys and canyons of Utah before its settlement were Peter Skeen Ogden, Wm. Ash James Bridger, Jdeediah Smith, Etianne Provost, and Kit Karso They became acquanited with this western country and their knowledge helped others coming later.

Sahley, Carson and Smith explored the valleys and canyon of the Wasatch mountains. Smith was killed by the Indians. (As early as 1824 the Hudson Bay Fur Company made a trading post at what is now Ogden, where the trappers sold their furs

A PIONEER.

A pioneer is one who goes before and opens the way for others to follow. He is one who breaks paths through he forest, who explores lakes and streams, who makes homes and builds towns in the winderness. He is a guide and a leader.

THE STORY OF UTAH.

Utah was settled in 1847 by the Morman Pioneers.

Chief: We are happy that you have come to visit us and wend invite you to come back again. We wish you could stay longr.

Escalante: You live in a beautiful valley. We have named this the "Valley of our Lady of Mercy of the Timpanogotizis". It is surrounded the the peaks of the Sierra, from which four rivers flow through and water it, until they enter the lake which is in the middle of the valley. Theere is enough water here to irrigate this valley and many families could live here.

Dom .:

There is a river that carries the water out of this fresh water lake and takes it northward. Tell us where it goes.

Indian: This river empties into a larger lake. It's waters are very harmful and very salty. It is not wise to get any of this water on your bodies as it will smart and hurt us.

Escalante: That is very interesting. We are sorry we cannot take the time to go up there. Here are a few presents to show you our appreciation for your kindness to us.

Pacheco: This hatchet is in appreication of your kindness and friendship.

Chief; We thank you for these presents. We have decided to let you take two of our men as guides. Joaquin want to go on with you. And anyone else who wants to may go.

New Guide: I would like to go with you.

Dom.: That is fine. We will call you Joseph Mary. We would like some food to take with us on our journey.

Chief: (to Indian). Get some dried fish for our friends. Here is our token that we will not forget the things that you have taught us. (The Chief hands E. three pieces of deer skin with figures on.) The picture with the most blood is the big chief, because in war he received the most wounds. The one that has no blood is ont a warrior but has authority among us.

Escalante: The big chief of the Spaniards will be pleased to see the presents. When we return we will bring these presents back with us.

(Enter Indians with dried fish).

Dom.: Thank you. Now we will not have to worry about food for a while. Here are some more presents.

Farming has alwyas been the chief industry of the people of Utah.
The pwople worked hard together from the first to make schools and churches so that they might be better people.

HOW UTAH BECAME A STATE.

Soon after the pioneers came they made a number of settle ments. They wanted these setteements to be joined together as a state.

Brigham Young called the people together. They made laws and Brigham Young called the people together. They made laws and rules for a state government. They they wrote to Washington and asked that the settelemts be made into a state.

The United States government woould not make a satte but made a territory of Utah.

As a territory the people could make laws and have officers to enforce them.

In 1896 Utah was made a state. There were 300,000 people by that time. They were a good and prosperous people.

THE STORY OF TRAVEL IN UTAH. HOW THE PIONEERS TRAVELED.

THE ROADS:

The firstroads or tails that the pioneers used were the Indian trails. The people in other setteements had to trade with the people in other setteelents so reads to travel over were needed soon after the settlers came.

The state road was one of the earliest roads to be Wuilt. It was an old Indian trail that the Shoshones used when they webt to trade with the Havahoes before the white people came. This raod goes from the northern part of Utah to the southern part.

This story tells how some of the pioneers had to work to build roads.

"We followed the Indian trails making roads and bridges as we went. We were three weeks crossing a canuon. We had to dig every inch of the road from seven miles out of the soldid rock so that our wagons could go safely over it.

THE WAGONS AND TEAMS.

THE HANDCARTS:

"Some must push and some must pull, As we go marching up the hill. As merrily on the way we go Until we reach the valley."

About 4000 people crossed the palins with handcarts. Mostly foreign emigrants. Their history is the saddest in the history of the west.

The reason for the handcarts companies. I was to expensive to get the people from Mississippi to Utah so Brighan Young told them to get handcarts, to haul providions and clothing in.

Teams were furnished for the sick and old.

The handcart moving begain the spring of 1856. first company arrived in Utah in Sept. 1856. There were 500 people and 100 handcarts. Many walked 1,300 miles.

The handcart migration was successful. It brought to Utah people who added to the industrial life of Utah.

The handcarts were made at Iowa City. They had two wheels with a framework covered with boards for a bottom. The framework extended in framework fork front with a crossbar which was used for a handle. Clothing and food were strapped to the cart. It could carry 17 lbs.

THE STORY OF THE STAGE COACH.

It wasn't long after the settlement of Utah until the stage coaches began running. This made travel much better. They ran between the Missouri rive and California through Salt Lake. It took from 4 to 6 weeks to have the hourney. Salt Lake was the center station, for mail, passengers, and freight. There were stations built all along the way.

This was like the one used by Buffalo Bill. It carrinine passemmers. It was pulled by 4 or 6 horses or mules. It carried It would swing and sway and fairly fly over the road. carry 25 pounds of baggage. It went 8 or 10 miles and hour.

With it was a driver and a conductor. Both of these used to sleep sometimes for thirty minutes at a time. The fare was $150. to $150.

Many times the passengers had to get out and help get the coach out of the mud. Passengers had to rise early and dress by the light of a tallow candle. Buffalo robes kept them warm.

Traveling was very dangerous. They had to watch for Indians. They were often attached in lonely places. The stages couldn't run during Indian troubles.

THE PONY EXPRESS.

The pony express was started to carry the mail from Missouri to California in ten days. There were 500 horses and 200 men. All of the men were riders.

The pony express riders were fearless and daring. It was a very important work for the mails had to be gotten trhou The ride was lonesome but this was the best and quickest way to carry the news. Each rider must keep going, for every 24 hours a dastance of 200 miles must be covered. Through river and torrents, over mountains and deserts they must go.

river and torrents, over mountains and deserts they must go.
There was always danger from Indains and robbers.
There were stations every 15 or 20 miles. There the horses were changed.

Many riders were killed but it was usually while they were on duty to see that the mails got through.

THE STORY OF THE FIRST RAILROAD.

The settlers in Utah began to feel as if they were a long way from the people in the east. So they began to plan for a railroad. They asked the congress of the United States if they could have one. They wanted a railroad for several reasons.

1. Traveling was very dangerous and diffecult.

2. They wanted to be connected with the markets in the east and California.

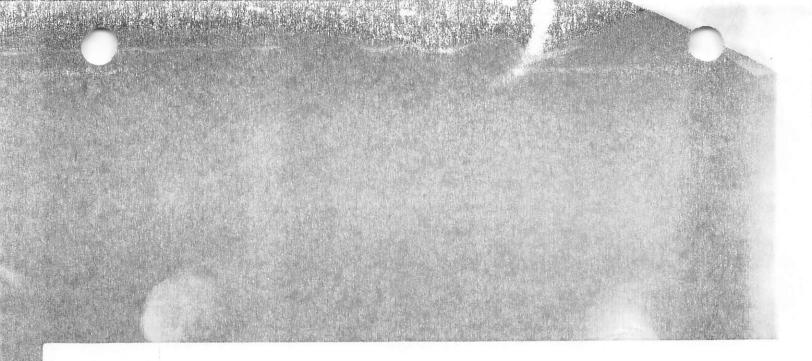

3. Gold was discovered in California.

The Government began to be interested. The Union Pacific Railway Company was organized at Chicago and the Central Pacific was started at San Francisco, California.

The first gound for the railroad was broken at Omaha,

The first gound for the railroad was broken at Omaha, Nebrasks, in Dec. 1862 and at the same time work was begun in California.

For nearly seven years the work went on. It was very difficult. Tunnels had to be made. Snow stopped the work in winter. The Indians troubled and they had to have guards.

Finally thw work was completed and they last spike was driven at Promonsory, Utah, May 10, 1869.

The coming of the railroad was the beginning of a great change in Utah and the west.

WHAT UTAH DID TO HELP.

Brigham Young promised to lay 190 miles in Utah. Utah menand boys worked with spade and pick and wheel barrow to get the road to us.

They sang this song as they worked.

At the head of great Echo the railway's begun, The Mormons are cutting and grading like fun. They say they'll stick to it until it's complete When friends and relatives they're hoping to meet.

THE GOLDEN SPIKE CELEBRATION.

It was a race to see which reached Ogden first. When they were both completed the two engines came close together. Hundreds of people were at Promontory Point. The last tie was placed. It was made of California laurel with a silver spike with this inscription: The last tie is laid on the completion of the Pacific Railroad. The gold and silver spikes were laid. The silver hammer came down and there was a railroad across our country. People all over the country heard of it through the selegraph. The next day the trains began running.

Soon branch lines were built in Utah. The first, The Utah Central Railroad was built to Salt Lake. Now after 24 years of pioneering in the west Salt Lake was connected with th rest of our country.

We must never forget the brave men who pioneered the west when there were so many dangers and hardships.

HISTORY TEST.

This valley was settled because: gold was discovered, the land was good for farms and ranches, there were no Indians here, the climate was warm. When this valley was first settled the people lived: a long distance from each other, in family groups, very close together, with the Indians.

Forts were built for: storage for crops, protection from Indians, to prevent fires.

JOHN CROOK'S STORY OF HIS COMING TO HEBER.

We left Provo, and on April 30, 185- we camped at a snow slide in Provo Canyong. The next day we went over the snow slide, and on to Wall's ranch. Then we went over to Daniels Creek on the ice.

We thought we were first but we found two teams plowing north of us. They were Robert Braodhead and Willaim Davidson with two yoke of oxen. Mr. Davidson had a family, which was the first family here. The first baby born here was a girl; Davidson's. She was named Timpanogas, for Prove river and Prove valley, which were called Timpanogas, then.
